Topics include Impacts of Computing, Algorithms & Computational Thinking, Programming, Data, and Computing Systems & Networks. It includes 5 modules including instructional/review presentations with embedded formative assessment; mastery questions with solutions; a discussion board, where questions are addressed by certified instructors; and a unit test. The 6th module includes a full-length Praxis-style test.

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES:

Upon completion of the course, the student will be able to:

1. Understand the impacts of computing on everyday life.
2. Make connections between programming languages they know, and how those languages are represented in pseudocode.
3. Create and use data, including libraries and APIs, to create programs.
4. Understand how data is stored and shared in computers.
5. Explain basic computer networking.

Activities: A number of different learning activities will ensure participant engagement and learning in the course. These include:

- Engage in video module lessons which demonstrate minimized direct instruction followed by frequent formative assessment
- Completion of formative assessments aligned to learning objectives which include detailed analysis when answered incorrectly.
- Interaction with module discussion boards that allow conversation with peers and course instructors about the module's content, delivering that content to students. Discussion boards also serve as a place to ask and answer questions related to the module's content.
- Short Answer Assignment: Each module requires one (1) original response to a given prompt. These prompts are typically based upon course lessons and require teachers to analyze, reflect, and make connections between the module's content and their own classroom practice.
- Mastery Exercises: For each module, these multiple-choice question quizzes assess the content knowledge gained in a module. Participants have the opportunity to retake; random questions are pulled from a larger question bank on each attempt ensuring varied questions.
- Module Exam: One is completed at the end of each module. It is a culminating exam consisting of praxis-like multiple-choice questions aligned to the exam objectives.
- Reflection Paper: At the end of the course, participants are required to reflect on the knowledge taught in the course, make connections, and compare/contrast their current pedagogy with new strategies gained in this assignment.
- Final Exam: At the end of the course, a comprehensive exam consisting of Multiple-Choice questions assesses the content knowledge learned throughout the course in preparation for the praxis exam.

GRADING RUBRIC:

The following rubric is used to score:

- Short Answer Assignment – 8% of grade
- Reflection Paper – 4% of grade

The minimum possible score for this rubric is 4 points, and the score will be converted to the minimum grade available in this module (which is zero unless the scale is used). The maximum score 25 points will be converted to the maximum grade.

Intermediate scores will be converted respectively and rounded to the nearest available grade. If a scale is used instead of a grade, the score will be converted to the scale elements as if they were consecutive integers.
